29th March, 2016

The auditorium at JMIS was reverberating with enthusiasm as an invigorating workshop on using storytelling in the classroom was conducted by Ms. Jaishree Sethi, the Creative Director of Story Ghar. Primary teachers from various esteemed schools of Delhi (including Sri Venkateshwara, St. Mark's, Guru Harkishan Public School, Vishwa Bharti, DAV, Mount Carmel, etc) participated in the workshop.

Ms. Anuradha Govind, the Principal of JM International School, addressed the gathering while sharing the importance of storytelling as a resourceful tool to encourage students to explore their unique expressiveness and can heighten a student's ability to communicate thoughts and feelings in an articulate, lucid manner. She also highlighted how storytelling can be used across the curriculum. The facilitator was a delight to watch as she engrossed the audience with her narrative embracing intonation, body language, and facial expressions as her tools for effective story telling. The participants were also engaged in different activities to enable them to shed their inhibitions as they donned the cap of a storyteller. A prompt feedback was also provided by her to appreciate the learning of the participants along with sharing tips for perfection.

Certificates made on recycled paper were awarded to the participants by Ms. Anuradha Govind, the Principal and Ms. Jaishree from Story ghar. It was an intriguing and a valuable workshop for the educators.
