Earth Day Pledge

I pledge to make everyday earth day by doing the following:

I promise to do my part to take care of the earth by picking up litter when I see it.

I promise to reduce, reuse, and recycle.

I promise to help care for growing things like trees and flowers.

I promise to encourage my family members, friends, and co-workers to learn about ways to get involved and to take action by taking care of our community!

*Global Warming at an all time high
But who cares?*

*People watch the world burn through unflinching eyes
after all the Arctic's melting,
the trees dying*

*Animals and their ecosystems barely surviving
Why doesn't anyone speak out against this crime?
How can you be so blind?*

*The future to come fills me with dread
so, so many animals and their habitats dead Mountains cut,*

*yet their eyes remain shut
The planet and everything in it dying
Leave it to the next generation to pick up your slack
Is the planet still surviving?*

*we must bring it back
The planet gets warmer
oils and resources lacking
we want our future to be safer not dying*

*after all it's the 21st century
where the planet and everything is dying
our food is filled with plastic, made to last forever
The ozone depleting, the Amazon bleeding:
we want change, not false promises*

“SMALL STEPS,
BIG IMPACT!”

WORLD NO TOBACCO DAY

By Tanay Singh Butola X RV

World No Tobacco Day is observed globally on May 31st each year. It is a significant day that is coordinated by World Health Organization (WHO) and it seeks to sensitize people about the health risks associated with tobacco smoking while advocating for policies that could reduce its use.

Tobacco kills more than eight million avoidable deaths annually due to lung cancer, heart diseases, stroke as well as respiratory illnesses. Global intervention is necessary given that second-hand smoke alone takes away approximately 1.2 million lives per year.

Did you know?

Most smokers start before the age of 18, making it crucial to educate young people about the risks of tobacco.

The global economic cost of smoking is over $1 trillion, considering healthcare expenses and lost productivity

Non-smokers exposed to second-hand smoke are also at risk, with around 1.2 million deaths annually attributed to such exposure.

NASHA MUKT BHARAT ABHIYAN

As part of the 'No Tobacco' struggle, 'NASHA MUKT BHARAT ABHIYAN' quiz was held for students of grades VI-X Through these activities students learn about tobacco harms and contribute towards a tobacco-free world in general.

HONOURING HARD WORK: THE ENDURING SIGNIFICANCE OF LABOUR DAY

- SHALVI KHARE
IX DD

Labour Day celebrated in many countries around the world, is a day dedicated to honouring the contributions of workers and the labour movement. The origins of Labour Day can be traced back to the late 19th century, the day was established to recognize the social and economic achievements of workers as well as their struggles for fair working conditions.

The history of Labour Day is rooted in the labour movement's fight for an eight-hour workday. One of the pivotal moments leading to the establishment of Labour Day was the Haymarket affair in Chicago on May 4, 1886. The history of Labour Day is rooted in the labour movement's fight for an eight-hour workday. One of the pivotal moments leading to the establishment of Labour Day was the Haymarket affair in Chicago on May 4, 1886. This event followed a peaceful rally in support of workers striking for an eight-hour workday, which turned violent after a bomb was thrown at police, leading to the deaths of several police officers and civilians.

This event highlighted the tensions between labourers and law enforcement, and it became a symbol of the sacrifices made by workers in their quest for fair working conditions. In 1889, the International Socialist Congress declared May 1st as International Workers' Day to commemorate the Haymarket affair and honour workers' struggles worldwide. This day, also known as May Day, is celebrated in many countries, although the United States and Canada observe Labour Day on the first Monday in September. Labour Day holds quite a lot of significance in the industries and work spaces such as recognition of workers' contributions as this day is to acknowledge and celebrate the hard work and dedication of workers across various sectors. The day highlights the historical struggles and achievements of the labour movement in securing rights and protections for workers, these include fair wages, reasonable working hours, safe working conditions, and the right to unionize. Labour Day fosters a sense of solidarity among workers. It is an opportunity for workers to unite, voice their concerns, and advocate for their rights collectively. Economic and social impact by recognizing the contributions of workers, Labour Day underscores the importance of fair labour practices for the overall health of the economy and society. Happy and well-treated workers are more productive, leading to positive economic outcomes and social stability.

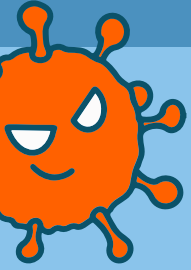

Labour Day is a day of profound significance for workers around the world. It honours the historical struggles and triumphs of the labour movement, recognizes the essential contributions of workers to society, and promotes solidarity and continued advocacy for workers' rights. As we celebrate Labour Day, it is important to remember the sacrifices made by those who fought for the rights we often take for granted today, and to continue striving for a fair and just working environment for all.

WORLD DAY FOR HEALTH AND SAFETY

WHERE THE PRIORITY IS SAFETY

“ACCIDENTS
HURT, SAFETY
DOESN'T”

The annual event known as the World Day for Health & Safety at Work is held on April 28th and highlights the significance of workplace health and safety. The significance of providing a safe and healthy work environment for all employees is emphasized today. Because work-related illnesses, injuries, and accidents are so common worldwide, proactive measures are required. Strong regulations, knowledge, and education can help reduce a number of hazards. Fostering a culture of safety enables employees to identify hazards and contribute to the improvement of workplace safety. On December 2, 1984, for instance, the world's greatest industrial tragedy occurred as a result of risky labor practices and cost-cutting measures by Union Carbide Corporation. The world was made aware of the significance of this day after hundreds of thousands of people lost their lives as a result of human greed and incompetence. Let's recommit to putting workplace safety and health first on this special day. Workplaces where each employee can succeed can be established if we work together.
