It is a renewable source of energy, which means it will never run out. Unlike fossil fuels, such as coal and oil, which can harm the environment, solar energy is clean and does not cause pollution. Many countries around the world are now using solar panels to capture sunlight and convert it into electricity. These panels are usually placed on rooftops or in large fields where they can get plenty of sunlight. The electricity generated by solar panels can be used to power homes, schools, and even big factories. One of the best things about solar energy is that it is free once the solar panels are installed. The sun shines every day, providing a constant source of power.
