

An Interaction with the teachers of classes VI-VIII

Date : 18th September 2014
Venue : Psychology Lab
Conducted By: Dr. Vandana Mishra
Organized By : Ms. Reena Shanker
Attended By : Class teachers of classes VI-VIII

An inspiring interactive session on the issues faced by teachers during classroom teaching was conducted by Dr. Vandana Mishra in the Psychology lab which was attended by teachers of classes VI- VIII. The interaction aimed at providing an insight into the problems faced by children in dealing with stress and pressure during learning process. The school counsellor, Dr. Vandana Mishra tried to resolve various issues overcome by teachers in their everyday classroom dealings and motivated them with the help of a poem. The need to develop a friendly and sociable environment was emphasized for the holistic development of a child. The teachers were encouraged to serve as a confidante and mentor to the children. They were apprised to inculcate life skills and moral values such as tolerance, perseverance amongst children while dealing with class issues. The importance of the concept of “Know your child” was presented before the teachers by citing certain examples of dealing with children.
