Now days the young generation is being more influenced by the western culture which is resulting in the lack of knowledge of their on tradition and values. In order to inculcate the traditional values in the young generation it is very important to make them aware of the importance of their own values. Sanskrit as the mother language can be inculcated by the young generation to help in their holistic development .As Sanskrit is the root of tradition and values it will be human being. In order to increase the education of Sanskrit language among the students, a warriors Sanskrit programmes should be initiated .we can motivate our Sanskrit language and our culture by the medium of ‘Sanskrit Play’ and ‘Sanskrit Debate Competition’.

We should not only teach students all language but we should also teach them moral values. If students know the culture and manners then we can save the culture of our society and country. This can be a good step, as we will give Sanskrit language that much importance, as much we give to other languages. Our historic literature is written in Sanskrit language and our country’s culture and our manners can be protected by Sanskrit language alone.
