In essence, aptitude is a person's natural, taught, or acquired capacity to carry out specific jobs. A child's profile is rounded up with aptitude testing, which is helpful when looking for academic and career assistance. As a result, administering this test becomes a required component of an academic program.

To empower the students with this essential indicator an aptitude assessment was conducted in association with Career Launch, for our students of Grade X on September 26, 2024. The primary objective of the test was to assess students' strengths, weaknesses, and potential career pathways. The students got engaged in a series of assessments designed to evaluate their analytical, verbal, and quantitative skills.

The test was administered in a supportive environment, ensuring that students felt comfortable while showcasing their abilities. The response was good and students showed great enthusiasm in completing their aptitude tests successfully.
