INVENTION OF ICONIC INDIANS

Students of Grade III presented an activity of invention of Iconic Indians.

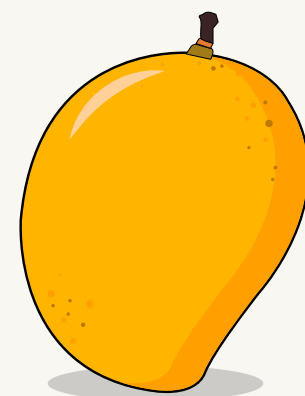

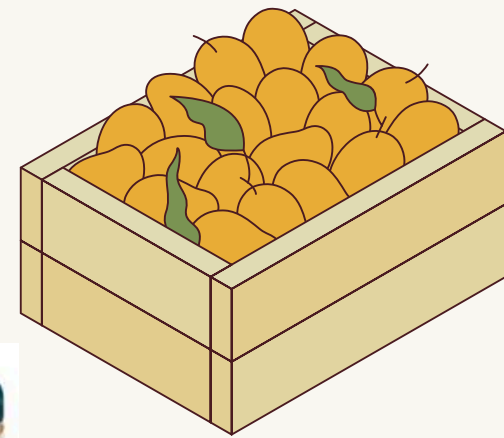

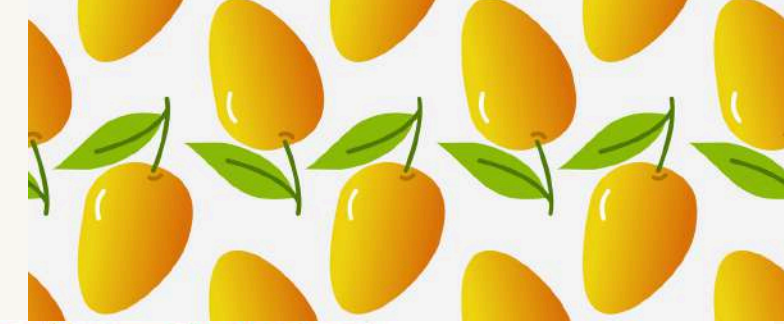

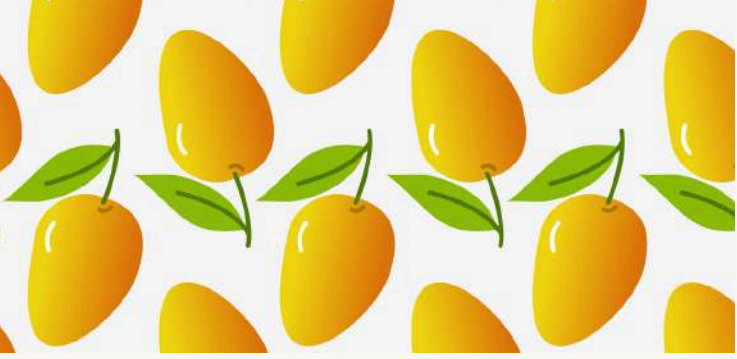

India is a rich tapestry woven from the threads of its ancient civilization, dynamic culture, and modern technological advancements. India's legacy of innovation spans thousands of years, marked by significant contributions to various fields such as mathematics, medicine, architecture, and engineering.

To portray this, children presented one prop and beautifully described their contributions to the world.

St. Xavier's High School, Sector 81, celebrated National Mango Day 🥭 with great enthusiasm and creativity. Students from Pre-primary to Grade III were engaged in a variety of kitchenette activities, making delicious mango-based dishes. The celebration aimed to educate students about the nutritional benefits of 🥭 and provide hands-on experience in preparing simple yet delightful recipes.

Reading not only sharpens the mind but also enhances creativity and critical thinking abilities. Our little Xaverians had a blast colouring their own bookmarks and adding ribbons to them.

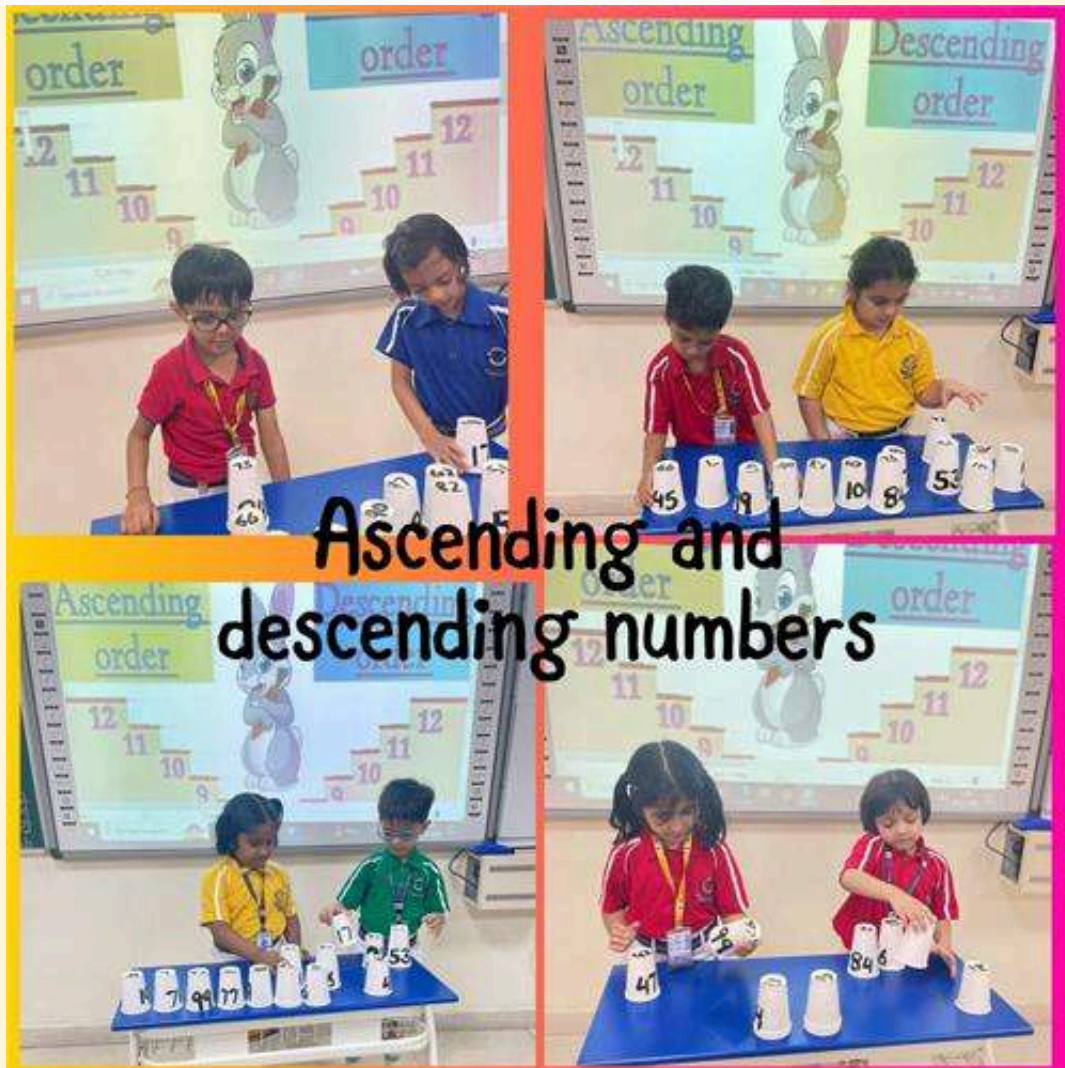

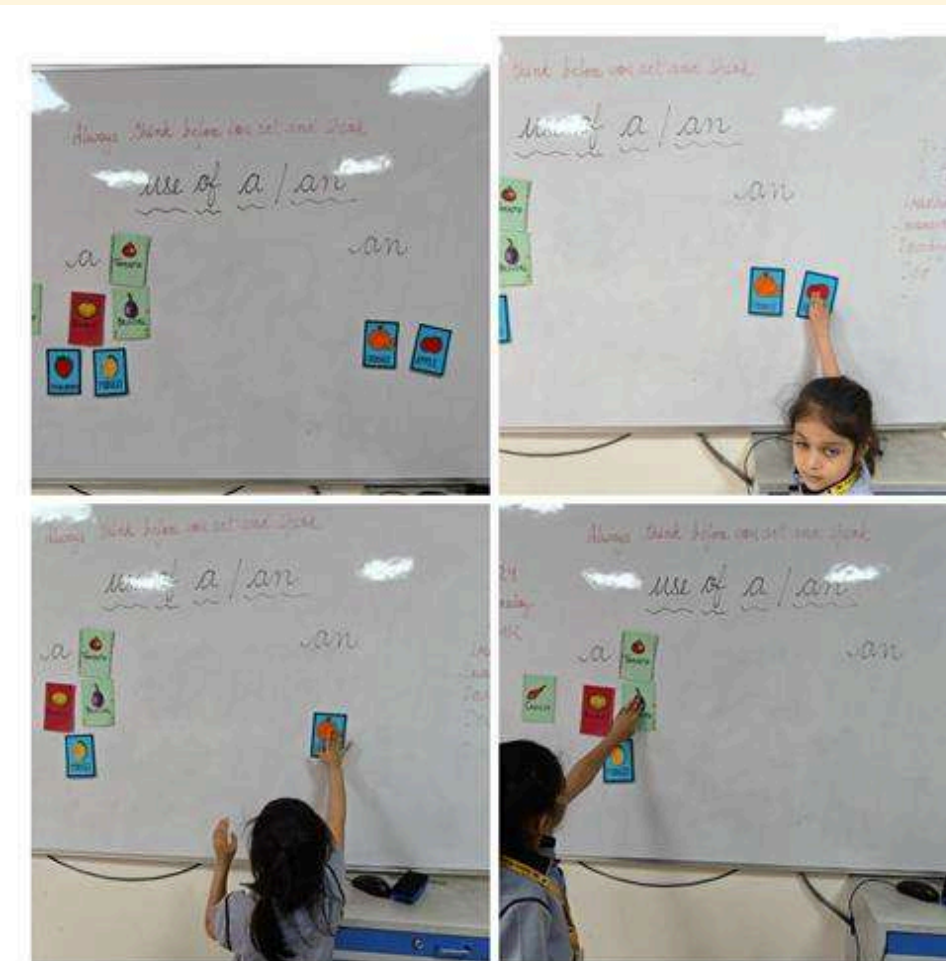

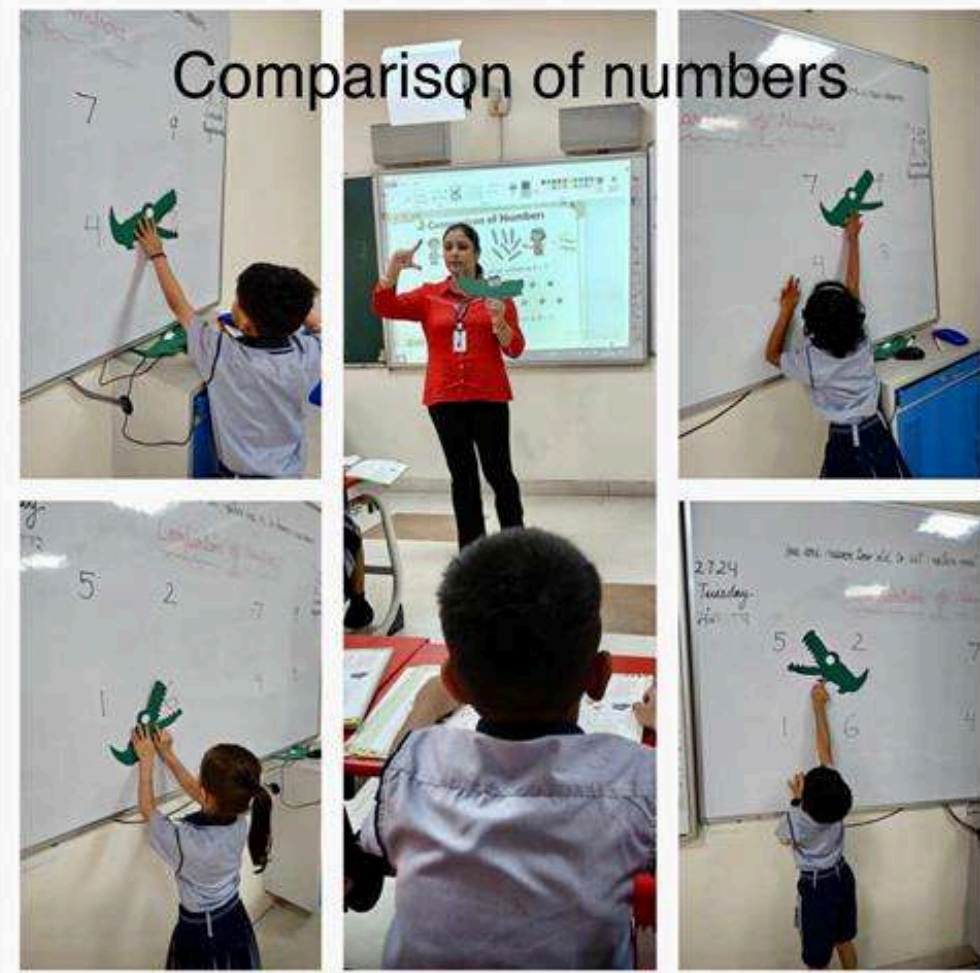

They engaged in a bookmark-making activity that fused creativity and self-expression, serving as a practical aid for their reading journey.

DEAR DAY

Title: Feeny- my Phoenix
Author: Reyan Mugund, IIC

Once upon a time in the rainbow land lived a phoenix. She was a bird & had her house up in the clouds. She loved her friends- a unicorn and a fire dragon. All the three would play Holi with the seven colours of rainbows every day. One day while playing, a scary one eyed monster having eight tentacles attacked them. To save himself, the dragon spit fire because of which the rainbow & the clouds started burning. There was fire everywhere. The Phoenix saw this & decided to help his friends. She jumped into the fire & burst the clouds for rain. Her friends were saved but her wings caught fire and she was burnt to ashes. Surprisingly, the ashes got back & formed the Phoenix again. She was alive again.
Moral of the story: If we help others, God will always protect us.

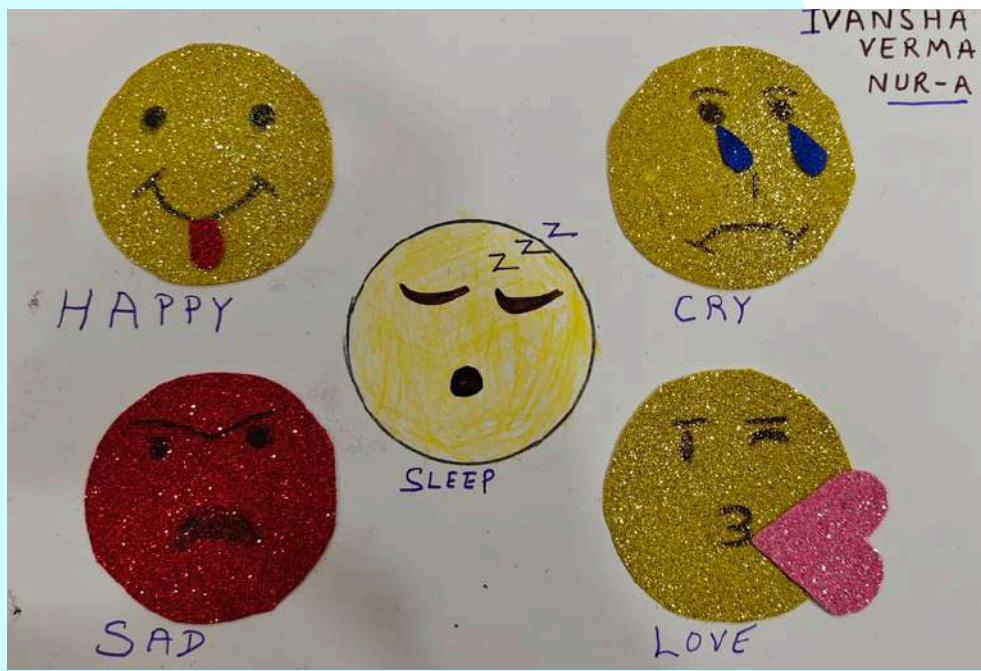

Title: Ocean the Mermacorn
Author: Praanvi Joshi, IIG

Once upon a time there was a unicorn named Lily. Whenever she felt thirsty she went down her RAINBOW HOME to drink the sea's magical water. Soon an evil witch got to know about Lily's home. She demanded, "Give me your magical powers." But Lily refused. The witch got angry and cast a spell on her, "Touch this water, and you will turn into a mermacorn". One day Lily drank the sea water, totally forgetting about the spell, and turned into a mermacorn. She protected the sea animals and now, was known by the name of OCEAN.

The Magical Forest Adventure

Deep into the silence of woods with all greens,
Amidst the cool & refreshing breeze,
I feel the magical touch,
Fascinated by the mystical presence of peace.

As I make my way into the dark deep woods,
Nature unfolds its beauty to the best,
I discover the shiny beam of light,
It's a secret box of gems, burrowed in the chest of trees.

I gaze & astonish at the strange sounds,
Deers & Peacocks hopping & talking around,
Following their queen Unicorn,
Rushing towards the hidden waterfall inside.

I stop, observe & ponder,
To my imagination I cannot wonder.

Visiting a Garhwali cultural temple like 'Surkanda Devi' can be a profoundly enriching experience for children, as it serves as a vibrant gateway to understanding heritage and the traditions of the Garhwal region in Uttarakhand, India. Surkanda devi temple is situated 50 km from Mussorie (Queen of hills). Such visits offer a unique opportunity for young minds to witness the architectural grandeur and intricate carvings that tell tales of historical and mythological significance. It provides them with a tangible connection to the past, allowing them to observe and participate in rituals and festivals, thereby fostering a sense of identity and continuity. Engaging with the local customs and the community in a temple setting can instill values of respect, spirituality, and community bonding. Moreover, it helps in preserving and passing down the rich tapestry of Garhwali culture and traditions to future generations, ensuring that the essence of their cultural identity remains alive and vibrant.

In an enchanted forest, deep and wide
Where ancient trees in whispers confide,
A path of magic, unseen by day,
Beckons wanderers, come what may.

Talking animals, wise and bold,
Share stories of legends, ages old,
Rabbits with riddles, foxes with lore,
Guiding hearts to the forest's core.

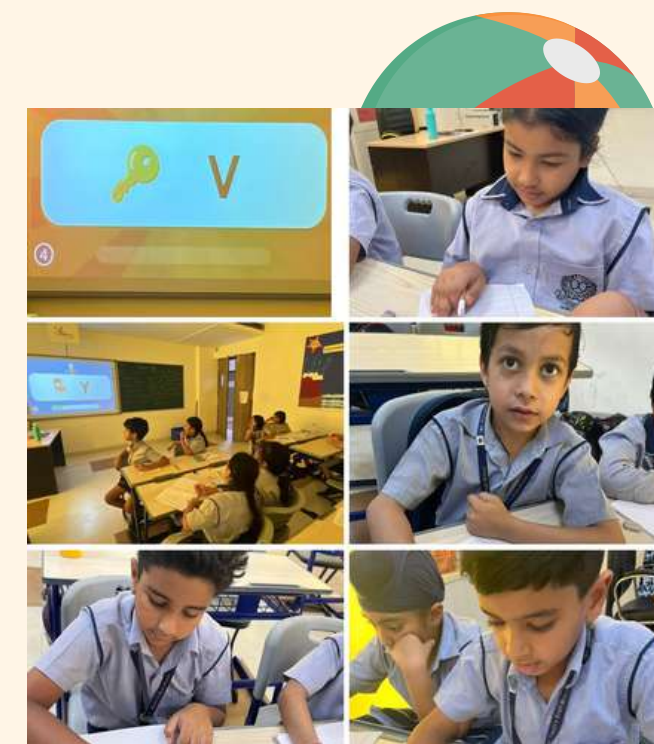

Glimmering treasures, hidden from sight,
Sparkle softly in the moon's pale light,
Jewels of wisdom, gems of delight,
Await the brave in the hushed twilight.

Through the mystic glen, the journey's end,
A world of wonder, where dreams transcend.
