School educational trips enhance students learning experience by providing opportunities to participate in activities outside their normal routine. We had such a learning opportunity by visiting Air Force museum. The children were excited to see the uniforms, the flag and symbols that air force used from its inception in 1932. They saw exhibits of small and large air crafts, war trophies, radar equipment and captured enemy vehicles. It was a wonderful learning experience for the children. They were happy to meet the Airforce officers.

The trip was full of fun and excitement and great learning about the Airforce museum .
