Behes is a non-profit organization with the aim of promoting effective communication, public speaking and debate through workshops, tournaments and language labs. They also offer workshops at gracious host schools (usually preceding tournaments) where they demonstrate How to 'Behes'.

Why Behes?

India has been following an age-old, stagnant practice in our schools of students reading out canned speeches on the topic provided prior to the debate day. 'Behes' endorses the free flow format of debating which is being followed across the globe. It is all development of collaborative, analytical, and persuasive skills apart from their oratory faculties. We believe that the power to speak well comes only with the power to think well. The format of the tournament and the reading list are designed with this objective in mind.
