Dear Students and Parents,

This month, we're excited to bring you a series of sessions that explore various educational pathways, including STEM Education, Business & Economics, and Design & Creativity. In addition, we'll dive into profile building and offer insights on navigating cultural diversity in higher education.

For parents, we're offering a special session designed to provide valuable tips on how to support your child's mental health during the college admissions process.

PS: the first 500 attendees get to interact directly with the speaker so please join 5-10 mins before the session starts. Others joining later will only have the benefit of the live stream on Facebook.
