Prem Ojha
Principal

I am delighted to extend a heartfelt invitation to our upcoming two-day Model United Nations (MUN) conclave at Gateway International School, Sonipat. Your enthusiasm, innovative ideas and dedication to addressing global challenges, especially those relating to sustainability, continue to inspire us.

Our institution deeply values the diversity of thoughts, opinions, and ideas that each of you brings. This MUN conclave will provide an ideal platform to enhance your diplomatic skills, critical thinking and teamwork, all essential for building a sustainable future. The decisions made, though imperfect, will mirror the complexity of finding inclusive, long-term solutions for global challenges.

I also want to take a moment to appreciate the unwavering dedication of our school's MUN club for organizing this event with sustainability as its central theme. Their tireless efforts reflect the importance of engaging with real-world issues through an educational lens, aiming to create a positive and lasting impact.

To all participating delegates from different schools, we warmly welcome you to this exciting journey. Your commitment to representing your countries, advocating for sustainable solutions, and actively participating will undoubtedly contribute to making this MUN conclave a remarkable success.

As the Vice Principal of this esteemed institution, I look forward to this assemblage of young minds that will delve into simulating global affairs and diplomacy, hoping to bring a paradigm shift in the world.

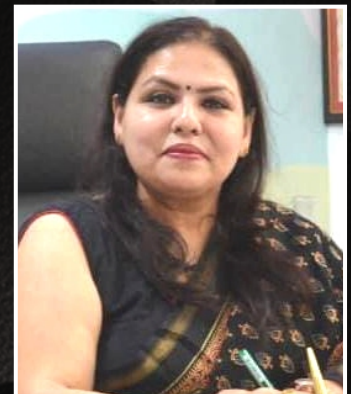

The MUN conference at GIS strives to serve as a platform for intellectual growth, cultural exchange, and evolution of future leaders.

Our MUN conference is a testament to our commitment to providing students with an immersive and reformatory educational experience.

Deliberations and debates, sought after resolutions, and mushrooming meaningful connections among students from diverse backgrounds is the essence of the event.

The committees and topics meticulously selected hope to challenge the critical thinking skills, communication skills and problem-solving ability of the participants, allowing them to explore the intricacies of international relations.

I look forward to the wholesome, exquisite and enriching experience for one and all in the conference.

Rahul Menon
Chief Advisor

As the Chief Advisor, it gives me immense pleasure to welcome you to this prestigious Model United Nations conference. It is an honor to be a part of this intellectually stimulating event that fosters diplomacy, critical thinking, and global awareness among our future leaders.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the organizing committee, comprising of dedicated students and faculty, for their relentless efforts in making this conference a reality. Their dedication and passion for excellence have been instrumental in creating an event of this caliber. To all the esteemed delegates, I encourage you to approach this conference with an open mind and the willingness to learn from one another.

To all the delegates, this is your moment to shine as you represent diverse nations and ideologies. Embrace the spirit of diplomacy and mutual respect as you collaborate with your fellow delegates to find common ground on complex global challenges. Remember, this is not just a competition; it is an opportunity for personal growth, learning, and forging lasting friendships.

Our world today requires innovative solutions, and I am confident that the bright minds gathered here will rise to the occasion. Let us engage in discussions that transcend borders and bring forth ideas that can make a positive impact on the world.

Dear delegates!

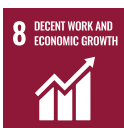

It is with great pleasure that I invite you to the fourth edition of GISMUN: Young Leaders Conclave. As your convener, I encourage you to immerse yourself fully in the experience, debate with passion, and collaborate with delegates. This year's agenda is designed to address some of the most pressing challenges facing our world today, and your contributions will play a pivotal role in shaping potential solutions.

GIS is dedicated to encourage the analytical development and the traditional and disciplinary nature of the students. At GIS MUN we believe in shaping the leaders of tomorrow by providing opportunities to practice research, promote diplomacy skills, public speaking, teamwork negotiation and writing skills in a safe and structured environment through MUN conferences.

We eagerly await your presence and participation in what promises to be an inspiring and transformative experience.

Sanvi Paliwal
Secretary-General

“You must be the change you wish to see in the world.”

On behalf of the secretariat, it is my great honour and privilege to welcome you all to this year’s GIS Model United Nations conference. In a world marked by rapid change, profound challenges and complex global dynamics, the role of the United Nations and by extension this conference is more critical than ever. MUN is not just a simulation of diplomatic negotiations, it is a stage for young minds to ignite ideas, foster dialogue and seek solutions to the pressing issues that confront humanity today. As Secretary-General, I urge you to approach each debate with an open mind and a spirit of cooperation.

MUN is not just about representing a nation’s interests but also about understanding and respecting the perspectives of others. In doing so, you will discover that true leadership lies not in asserting dominance but in building bridges, crafting solutions and standing up for justice, equality and peace. I extend my deepest gratitude to the Secretariat for their tireless efforts in organizing this conference and to the delegates for their commitment and enthusiasm. Together, let us embark on this journey of intellectual discovery, mutual respect and global understanding. Thank you, and I wish you all a fruitful and enriching experience.

Dear Delegates!

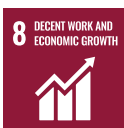

It is with great excitement that I invite you to the GIS MUN 4.0!

I must confess, when I first started my MUN journey, I never thought I’d be here, writing this letter today as the Director General! But here we are, and I couldn’t be more thrilled!

GIS MUN 4.0 is more than just a conference; it’s an adventure in diplomacy. MUN is a serious endeavor. We are here to tackle the world’s most complex issues. You know, the ones that have eluded actual diplomats for decades, but we believe you, a group of highly motivated students, will solve them by Sunday. Over the course of this conference, you’ll tackle pressing global issues, build long-lasting friendships and develop skills that will stick with you far beyond the committee rooms. Those will last longer than any resolution you pass, I guarantee that. Public speaking, negotiation, leadership and perhaps most importantly—the art of appearing calm when your country’s foreign policy is under attack. Whether it’s about climate change, global security, or somehow fixing the WiFi in public spaces (a noble cause, if you ask me), GIS MUN 4.0 will push you to think critically and act diplomatically. So buckle up, get those position papers ready, and prepare for the two days of intense debate, fierce competition and maybe a few inside jokes about parliamentary procedures. I can’t wait to see the amazing ideas you bring to the table, and to witness the next generation of leaders take center stage.
