Dear Parent and Learner

Greetings from BIS Fraternity!

Winter holiday homework can be both fun and rewarding! It's not just about getting schoolwork done – it's a chance to explore your creativity and learn in exciting new ways. You can read winter-themed stories, write about your favourite holiday traditions, or even create art inspired by the season. Imagine turning your homework into a winter adventure, like solving math puzzles to uncover a hidden snowman or writing a story about a magical winter wonderland! Remember, winter holiday homework helps keep your brain active, and you'll feel proud and ready for school when the break is over!

The children should be guided to follow the time schedule for the optimum utilization of winter break. You are requested to guide and help them in doing their holidays homework. Encourage them to converse in English at home. Share some moral stories or your experiences with your kids. After the winter vacations, the school will be ready to welcome them back all rejuvenated and invigorated.
