

BE FUTURE READY: MAKE INFORMED CHOICES

Grade: 11

Wednesday,
23 April 2025

RESOURCE PERSON :

DR. AMRITA DASS
FOUNDER AND DIRECTOR
INSTITUTE OF CAREER STUDIES

INTENT:

The session intended to instil a forward-thinking mindset among students, helping them understand the dynamic nature of careers and the importance of flexibility. It sought to equip students with the knowledge needed to match their passions with viable career paths. Above all, it encouraged students to take ownership of their academic and professional journeys early on, setting the foundation for lifelong success.

Through initiatives like this, Credence High School continues to inspire and equip its students to confidently navigate their academic and career journeys with purpose and preparedness.

EXPERIENCE:

The session was dynamic and engaging, encouraging students to actively reflect on their passions and strengths. Real-life examples, career case studies and interactive discussions made the session highly relatable and actionable. Students appreciated the practical tips shared for both short-term academic planning and long-term career development.

INSIGHT:

Students gained a clearer understanding of the importance of making deliberate, informed choices about their future. They realized that success in the coming decades will depend not only on academic achievements but also on soft skills, adaptability and personal initiative. The session motivated students to start early in preparing strong university applications and in building versatile skill sets.
