Classes : I to V

On International Day of Families, students of Classes I to V came together to celebrate the importance of family through joyful and heart-warming activities. The event was held in the primary wing of the school and was filled with love, creativity, and enthusiasm. The young learners participated in a family portrait activity, where they drew beautiful pictures of their family members. With crayons, colours, and imagination, they created touching representations of their homes and loved ones. These drawings reflected not just their artistic skills but also the strong emotional bonds they share with their families. In addition to the art activity, the children also expressed their affection through poetry recitations. They sang short, sweet poems dedicated to their parents and grandparents, showcasing their talent and heartfelt emotions. Their performances were full of innocence and charm, leaving the teachers and staff deeply moved.

The celebration helped the children understand the value of family support and love. It also encouraged them to express gratitude for the care and warmth they receive at home.
