

Tisha Jain of Grade XI, JM International School, recently participated in a summer training programme organized by Times NIE (Newspaper in Education) from 26th to 30th May 2025, at Bal Bharti Public School, Sir Ganga Ram branch, New Delhi, gaining valuable exposure to journalism and mass communication. The workshop combined theory with hands-on learning through interactive sessions on reporting, article writing, and newspaper publishing. Activities like article rating, mock interviews, and newspaper page design helped students understand the role and responsibilities of journalists. A career counselling session by Mr. Jitin Chawla added further clarity to media-related career options. Highlights included visits to the Times of India Press in Sahibabad and the Times of India Office and Radio Mirchi Station in Noida, where students witnessed high-speed printing, live broadcasts, and studio recordings. The immersive experience left a lasting impact, deepening their understanding of media and igniting a keen interest in the field.
