Did you know mangoes are the national fruit of India? Our young writers found out that mangoes are loved across the country, with each region growing different varieties, like Alphonso, Kesar, and Dussehri. The students were thrilled to learn that mangoes aren't just tasty - they're packed with vitamins that keep us healthy, helping with everything from strong eyesight to glowing skin.

Each Grade 2 student got to share their favorite mango fact and talk about their preferred ways to enjoy mangoes, whether as juicy slices, in a creamy shake, or in tangy pickles. Our budding authors even discussed mango festivals held every summer, where people come together to celebrate this delicious fruit in unique ways.

The day was a wonderful mix of creativity and learning, as the students combined national pride with fun facts, all inspired by one of India's most treasured fruits. Mango Day turned out to be a true summer celebration, filled with knowledge, sweetness, and a lot of smiles!
