7.	Description of the activity	“Rakhi is not just a thread of protection; it's a symbol of love, trust, and a reminder that we all have a role in nurturing a more compassionate and socially aware world.” Raksha Bandhan at ITL Public School beautifully blended creativity, patriotism, and the festival's universal values. From Candyfloss to Class XII, students engaged in activities that celebrated love, gratitude, and unity. The little ITLeens of Candyfloss crafted tricolour fan-folded and grain rakhis, symbolising courage, peace, and prosperity, and tied them to the school guard, conservancy staff, and even trees, honouring protectors and caregivers. Students of Classes I–V participated in “Tiranga Rakhi Making” for soldiers, creating rakhis in national colours using clay, paper quilling, and decorative materials. This touching gesture expressed heartfelt gratitude to the brave hearts safeguarding the nation, nurturing in young minds respect, unity, and national pride. Class VI created vibrant collages and posters comparing Raksha Bandhan with similar traditions worldwide, fostering cultural awareness. Class VII designed eco-friendly rakhis with dedication tags, while Class VIII took part in a speaking activity reflecting on the festival's wider meaning, linking it to global values of harmony, protection, and empathy. As part of the Raksha Bandhan celebrations, a group of adolescent girls from Classes X to XII visited Sector 9 Police Station, Dwarka, to honour the spirit of protection, respect, and gratitude. The students tied rakhis - symbolic threads of love, care, and mutual respect- to police personnel, acknowledging their unwavering dedication to ensuring the safety and well-being of the community. #RakshaToRealHeroes #SustainableFestivals
