

HANDPRINT FUN

ACTIVITY: HANDPRINT ACTIVITY - The colourful Octopus

DATE: 18 August 2025

CONDUCTED BY: Pre School

The Handprint Activity brought a wave of creativity and joy to the classroom as children set out to create their very own octopus using just their tiny handprints. Each child dipped their hands in bright colors and pressed them on paper, turning every handprint into a lively tentacle. Slowly, the plain sheets transformed into cheerful, vibrant octopuses, each one unique and special, just like the little artists themselves.

The activity was more than just fun—it gave children the chance to explore their imagination and express their artistic skills in a playful way. The room was filled with giggles and excitement as they compared their octopuses, proudly showing off the colorful tentacles they had created. Through this simple yet engaging activity, the children not only strengthened their fine motor skills but also learned the joy of creating art with their own hands.

By the end, the classroom walls came alive with a sea of handprint octopuses, turning the space into an underwater wonderland. It was truly a day of laughter, learning, and creativity, where little hands created big smiles and lasting memories.
