Ch-12- Grassroots Democracy-Part-3- Local government in Urban Areas

Q1. What is the aim of good governance in a democracy?

Q2. Explain in brief about 'urban local bodies'.

Q3. Make a list of services offered by the Indore Municipal Corporation.

Q4. Assertion(A): The citizens may actively participate in their country's functioning, whether it is at the Rural, regional, urban, state or national level.

Reasoning (R): This is the broader concept of participatory democracy.

- (a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A.
- (b) Both A and R are true, but R is not the correct explanation of A.
- (c) A is false, but R is true.
- (d) A is true, but R is false.

Q5. Read the paragraph given below and answer the questions that follow.

Cities and towns are divided into smaller units called 'wards', and the ward committees facilitate activities such as conducting health camps, organising a campaign against the use of single-use plastics, and so on. They also keep an eye on anything that might go wrong — a water leak, a blocked drain, a damaged road, etc. — and report such problems to the authorities. However, the precise functioning of wards differs from State to State, depending on the rules they make.

- a. Where do the ward committees report problems to? Give examples.
- b. What are wards?
- c. If you were a member of ward committee, what would have been your concern?
