READING

Q1. Read the passage given below and answer the following questions carefully.

The Ganges River dolphin lives in the Ganga and the Brahmaputra rivers, not in the sea. It used to live in many rivers in India, Nepal and Bangladesh but it is extinct in many of the places now. It has a long mouth, rectangular fin and a rounded stomach. Its skin is brown and grey. It cannot see well, so it uses special high sounds to find fish. The baby dolphins are chocolate-coloured when they are born. When these dolphins are present in the river, it means the water is clean and safe. In 2009, the Government of India made the Ganges River dolphin the National Aquatic Animal of India. Today, dirty water from factories and farms makes it hard for these dolphins to live. Some dolphins also get caught in fishing nets. People also hunt them for meat and oil.
