THEME FOR THE MONTH OF MAY-
MY HAPPY FAMILY

A blooming welcome...

To Our Wonderful Young Learners and Families,

Welcome to the very first edition of Credence Blooms - Early Years Wellbeing Journal!

It brings us immense joy to share this special collection of creativity, imagination, and heartfelt expressions from our young learners. Every drawing, photograph, reflection, and piece of work featured in this journal tells a unique story and celebrates the wonderful individuality of each child.

For our launch edition, the theme "My Happy Family" invited children to reflect on the people who make them feel loved, safe, and supported. Through their beautiful creations, our children have shared what family means to them-moments of happiness, togetherness, care, and belonging.

At Credence, we believe that every child has a voice worth hearing and talents worth celebrating. This journal serves as a platform to nurture self-expression, build confidence, and strengthen the connection between home and school.

We sincerely thank our children, parents, and teachers for their enthusiasm and support in making this first edition a success. We look forward to many more wonderful contributions in the months ahead as we continue to celebrate the creativity, growth, and wellbeing of our young learners.

With warm wishes,

Department of Inclusion & Wellbeing- Early Years

As we come to the end of our very first edition of Credence Blooms, we celebrate the creativity, imagination, and joyful expressions shared by our young learners.

This month, through the theme "My Happy Family" our children reminded us of the love, care, and special bonds that make families so important. Every drawing, photograph, story, and reflection shared in these pages reflects a unique perspective and a heart full of wonderful memories.
