

BRINGING LITERATURE TO LIFE

ACTIVITY: Role Play on “The Portrait of a Lady”

DATE: 28 April 2026

CONDUCTED BY: Class XI-A

Students of Grade 11A recently presented a captivating role play based on the chapter “The Portrait of a Lady.” Through their expressive performances and thoughtful interpretation of the text, they successfully brought the story’s characters and emotions to life.

The presentation beautifully portrayed the deep bond between the narrator and his grandmother, highlighting the values of love, care, respect, and companionship that connect generations. The students skillfully conveyed the emotional journey of the characters, enabling the audience to appreciate the significance of familial relationships and the wisdom of elders.

The role play also sensitively addressed the challenges and concerns faced by many elderly individuals in contemporary society. By drawing attention to the importance of empathy, respect, and support for senior citizens, the performance encouraged meaningful reflection on the responsibilities of younger generations towards their elders.

The activity was both educational and impactful, demonstrating the students’ creativity, confidence, and understanding of the text while reinforcing important social values. Their commendable efforts transformed a literary lesson into a memorable and thought-provoking learning experience.
