ITL Public School organised an Inter-House Painting Competition on the occasion of National Technology Day on 11 May for students of Classes X–XII. The theme, "Canvas of Expression – Future World with AI," encouraged students to imagine how artificial intelligence and technology could shape the future while expressing their ideas through art.

Students enthusiastically participated and showcased their creativity, originality, and artistic skills through vibrant and thought-provoking paintings. Their artworks reflected innovative ideas on smart cities, robotics, environmental sustainability, space exploration, and the harmonious coexistence of humans and AI.

The competition provided a wonderful platform for students to blend imagination with technology, promoting creative thinking, visual expression, and awareness of emerging technological advancements. The event concluded successfully, with participants impressing the judges through their artistic excellence and unique interpretations of the theme.
