EDITION 48 NOVEMBER 2026 ST. MARY'S SCHOOL, DWARKA

PRINCIPAL'S DESK

"The joy of learning is that it never ends; it evolves with us throughout our lives." -Anonymous

At St. Mary's School, Dwarka, our vision extends beyond academic excellence to preparing students for a world beyond the classroom. We believe that education is not merely about acquiring knowledge but about learning how to learn. Our learners must also possess sensitivity, integrity, empathy and courage to make a meaningful difference to society.

However, changing times also bring challenges that call for greater awareness and collective responsibility. One such concern is the growing incidence of indiscipline among students. Discipline is not about imposing restrictions; it is about developing self-control, respect for others and an understanding of consequences. The school continues to make efforts in this direction through its policies, programmes, activities and everyday interactions. Yet these lessons must continue beyond the school gates. The partnership between parents and the school is therefore indispensable. What we emphasise in school must be reinforced at home so that children receive a consistent message about acceptable behaviour, responsibility and respect, so that their lives will bear good fruit.

A child's growth requires more than the physical presence of parents; it calls for their emotional availability, patience to hear them out and genuine involvement in the child's school life. School programmes, celebrations, competitions and other activities are not simply events on the calendar; they are meaningful opportunities for children to discover their abilities, develop confidence and create lasting memories. I urge parents to take a keen interest in their participation and progress.

Another area that deserves attention is the development of effective communication skills, especially proficiency in English. Learning English is essential as it is the medium through which students are required to express their understanding of the concepts in all subjects while writing their exams. Regular practice, reading and spoken communication will go a long way in helping them articulate their thoughts with clarity.

As we become increasingly conscious of the environmental challenges around us, let us also encourage our children to celebrate responsibly. The true joy of a celebration SHOULD NOT lie in how many crackers one can burst, but in the happiness we create without harming others or our environment. Let us take pride in inclusive, sustainable celebrations, and teach our children environmental stewardship.

Finally, let us recognise that every child can be a leader. Leadership is not confined to holding a position; it is reflected in the ability to take initiative, make responsible choices, show empathy, work collaboratively and stand up for what is right. We must encourage them to lead through their actions.

As parents and educators, we must remember that we are preparing students for life. Let us work together to help them understand that every action has its appropriate context and that success often lies in knowing the right time, the right place and the right manner to do things. This understanding, when internalised, will become a lifelong guiding principle.

Let us continue to work together to make this vision a reality.

God bless.

Principal

In Loving Memory of Kewal Sir

With profound sorrow, we mourn the passing of Kewal Sir, our respected Physical Training Instructor, whose presence was an integral part of our school community.

Kewal Sir stood for discipline, punctuality, dedication, and responsibility. Whether on the school grounds, during assemblies, sports activities, or everyday school routines, his firm yet caring presence encouraged students to be disciplined and give their best. For him, discipline was not merely about following rules, it was about developing character, self-control, perseverance, and respect for others.

Behind his strict and disciplined exterior was a person deeply committed to his students and to the school. He taught lessons that went far beyond physical fitness. He taught us to stand strong in difficult moments, to work hard without seeking recognition, to respect time, and to carry ourselves with dignity. His sincerity towards his duties and his unwavering commitment to the institution earned him the respect of students and colleagues alike.

The school grounds will feel different without his familiar presence, his instructions, and the discipline he brought wherever he went. Yet, the values he instilled in generations of students will remain a lasting part of his legacy.

We pray that God grants strength and comfort to his family and loved ones during this difficult time.

Kewal Sir will always be remembered with gratitude, respect, and affection.

May his soul rest in eternal peace.

“We pray for strength for his family to bear this irreparable loss.”
Rest in Peace Dear Kewal Sir
