

DPS Maruti Kunj's Head Boy Shines on a Global Stage

We are immensely proud to announce that Vivek Malik, the Head Boy of DPS Maruti Kunj, has achieved remarkable international recognition. His essay was selected among the top 3% of over 35,000 submissions from around the globe in a prestigious competition held by John Locke University at Oxford, London.

This extraordinary accomplishment reflects Vivek's dedication, intellect, and passion for excellence in writing. Competing at such a high level, he has brought pride not only to himself but also to our entire school community. Vivek's achievement at this global platform serves as an inspiring example for his peers and reinforces our commitment to nurturing young minds for excellence.

Congratulations to Vivek Malik on this outstanding accomplishment! We look forward to more of his achievements in the future.
